Sewage Plan Is Discussed By Chamber

Important Subject Under Discussion at Monday Meeting

New Members Are Added to Chamber of Commerce During Week

The Metropolitan Sewer District No. 7, of which Sierra Madre is now a part, was the major subject of discussion at the Monday night meeting of the Chamber of Commerce.

District No. 7 comprises the incorporated cities of South Pasadena, Alhambra, Monterey Park, San Gabriel, San Marino, El Monte, Monrovia, Arcadia, Azusa, Glendora, Covina, a portion of West Covina and Sierra Madre, and the unincorporated towns of Flintridge, Altadena, Temple, Wilmar, Rosemead and Baldwin Park. In the 1925 bond election the cities of Sierra Madre, Arcadia, Monrovia, Azusa and Glendora voted against the bonds by a majority sufficient to overcome the favorable vote in the other cities.

The plan calls for an outfall sewer to the ocean, and the original plan was to pipe the raw sewage into a trunk line, to be discharged into the ocean. Opposition to this plan has resulted in a modification which calls for a reduction plant, which would result into the discharge of chemically pure water into the ocean.

It is contended by experts that the valley can ill afford to discharge the water into the ocean, and that the only solution to the problem is to build plants to reclaim the sewage for fertilizer, allowing the chlorinated water to return to the ground.

Sierra Madre has three courses of action, to join the Pasadena sewer district, to combine with Arcadia and Monrovia in a tri-city disposal plant, or to continue in the metropolitan district.

After lengthy discussion, President Klunk announced a committee to attend a meeting of the county supervisors and representatives of the various cities affected at Marigold Gardens, Tuesday night. The committee is composed of Joe R. Eastwood, W. S. Hull and M. D. Welscher.

J. E. Carpenter, chairman of the membership committee, announced four new memberships during the past week, Ole Hanson, Jr., Henry Olsen, Crane Company and Solary and Davies.

Membership in the San Gabriel Development Association was cancelled for the present year.

A letter from the owners of the house on West Central which is approximating the nth degree in dilapidation, stated that on advice of their attorneys they could not authorize the tearing down of the structure. The estate has been in litigation for some time, and the letter stated it would be settled in about four months, when the matter will again be taken up, with a probability that favorable action may be secured.

A letter from the Fuller paint company offering five gallons of paint to be used in "air markings" was read. It appearing that there is no building in the city large enough for air-marking purposes, the offer could not be accepted.

A communication from the Arcadia Chamber of Commerce stated that an advertising campaign to be conducted in the metropolitan papers, and in which Sierra Madre had been invited to join, would cost Arcadia $7,000 of which the city council and the chamber of commerce would each pay half. The directors laid the matter over for further discussion.

Orange juice imported from Mexico at the rate of several hundred barrels weekly came up for discussion, following the reading of a communication from the Fontana chamber of commerce, which is urging concerted action to establish a tariff against such importation. It is now unlawful to import oranges from Mexico, but the law does not apply to the juice. The secretary of the local chamber was instructed to draft telegrams to California representatives and senators in Washington in protest to the practice and asking immediate relief, in behalf of orange growers in California. All California chambers of commerce are uniting in such action.

Sierra Madre has joined Laramie Park and Pasadena in requesting that the railroad commission establish a grade crossing over the Santa Fe tracks on Sierra Made Avenue. Such a crossing would give this city direct access to Colorado Avenue.

Legion Asking Cooperation for Clean Cemetery

The American Legion, in pursuance of its plan of keeping the local cemetery clean and neat the year around, has again cleaned up the paths and roads as well as trimmed the trees. We now urge the individual lot owners to clean up their lots at this time, as the grass and weeds are tall and need cutting. To keep the cemetery neat all the time this may have to be done two or three times before the dry season comes and the growth stops.

It will take each individual lot owner only a short time to clean his own lot and it all adds to the appearance of the whole cemetery, so much. More lot owners have taken an interest in their lots this year than ever before and we hope that their enthusiasm for this project will not flag.

Guidance to Be Topic at Wilson PTA

Miss Bennett, Supervisor of Pasadena Schools, Will Speak

Founders' Day will be celebrated by the Woodrow Wilson Parent Teacher Association next Thursday afternoon, according to announcement of Mrs. Phillip Stenour, president. The program, which will begin at 2 o'clock, will include two fine talks and other entertainment features.

Miss Margaret Bennett, supervisor of guidance in the Pasadena schools, will be the principal speaker. She has been very successful in organizing the orientation courses in Pasadena junior college. She has also been in charge of the splendid experimentation activities in the junior high schools.

Miss Mildred Scott, faculty counselor at Wilson school, will also speak. A harmonica duet will be played by Donald Walrod and Donald Anderson. Refreshments will be served after the program.

Mothers desiring bus service to and from the meeting are advised to communicate with Mrs. F. B. Butler, Black 179, who has been making transportation arrangements at nominal prices.

Arden Busy On Memorial To Burbank

Local Man Engaged in Raising Fund to Perpetuate Home Place

Hubert Arden, of the Arden Irrigation and Construction Co., with offices in the Van Nuys Building, is spending several days at his home on Live Oak Avenue after being absent in the northern part of the state on business for some time.

Mr. Arden was appointed by Senator F. S. Boggs of Stockton, chairman of the board of directors of the Burbank Foundation, to solicit funds in Southern California to start a movement to raise the sum of $150,000 for the establishment of the Luther Burbank home place as a museum, park and experimental station. An initial fund of $10,000 is being raised, to be used to send out 200,000 letters to prominent residents of the state. All sums secured as a result of the circularization will be set aside as a trust fund, only the income to be used in the perpetuation of the memorial. One hundred leading residents of various cities in California will be asked to donate $100 each to establish the $10,000 fund, and Sierra Madre is already represented among the group, the names of W. Jarvis Barlow and W. J. Lawless being already included in the list of donors.

In Mr. Arden's opinion, it will be an easy matter to raise the required sum. In fact the board of governors believe the sum will eventually reach $500,000, as the movement becomes known, not only in California, but in all parts of the world, where the benefits of the plant wizard's remarkable work have been spread.

Mrs. Roland Adams and daughter, Betty Jo, were week-end visitors at the home of Miss Mable Appleby and her mother at Ocean Park.

Sgt. Harvey H. Steinberger Attends Dinner of Rainbow Division

French Government Presents Medals for Service at Verdun

Harvey H. Steinberger has received from the French government a medal in token of services rendered at the battle of Verdun, July 14, 1918. The medal was presented at the Rainbow Division dinner, held in Patriotic Hall, Los Angeles, last week. The affair was attended by Rainbow veterans, French veterans and official representatives of the French government.

Six Sierra Madre veterans were listed among those designated to receive the medal. Sergeant Steinberger was the only one able to be present at the dinner. The others are Raymond Adelmeier, John Olsen, Ben Medley, Wade Fallis and Robert Clark. They were members of the 117th Engineers in the 42nd, commonly called the Rainbow Division.

Designated for construction work, the 117th Engineers found themselves building trench systems and other work in some of the hottest territory along the front. At times they served as shock troops, and won citations both at Verdun and Chateau Thierry.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles C. Sheppards of New York City arrived on Tuesday for their annual visit to Southern California. They are guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George P. Rikeman, 29 West Live Oak.

Interest in Mission At High Point

St. Rita's Parish Joins in Mission with Entire Diocese

The week's Mission which opened Sunday morning in St. Rita's Church has been largely attended. Those who came for the 9-o'clock Mass conducted by Rev. Thomas Carter, C. P., were well rewarded and the progress of the Mission through the week has been marked by growing interest in the forceful and eloquent sermons.

The Mission will continue through the week, in harmony with the Mission conducted in all Catholic churches throughout the diocese. It will close Sunday evening, February 24, at 7:45.

The closing of the Mission is always an impressive ceremony, but the closing of a Mission by the Passionist Fathers is unique. To miss it is cause for genuine regret. An invitation is extended to all to attend the remaining services of the Mission, and especially the closing.

Mrs. H. E. Handerson and Mrs. Robert S. Corlett were hostesses at a delightful bridge luncheon on Saturday at the Corlett home, 65 East Mira Monte.

End Comes Soon After Occupying New Home Here

Funeral services for Mrs. Otto Semke, who passed away on Feb. 12, was held Thursday, Feb. 14, in the C. F. Lamb funeral chapel. The Christian Science service was used.

The passing of Mrs. Semke was particularly sad as she and Mr. Semke had only a few days previously moved into their recently completed home at 73 West Grand View. She had been in apparently good health and the end was attributed to some heart weakness.

Mrs. Semke was a native of Washington, Mo., where they resided until coming to Los Angeles three years ago. In addition to her husband, she leaves her mother, Mrs. S. Havekost, two sisters, Mrs. Emma Wranzman, and Mrs. S. W. Barth, and a brother, Henry Havekost.

H. J. Potter Served City Thru Books

His Passing Marks End of Life Enriched With Wide Knowledge

Henry J. Potter, a resident of Sierra Madre for about twenty-two years, passed away Tuesday afternoon at the home on Grove Street where he had lived almost a recluse, for a long time. Although known to but few of the present residents of Sierra Madre, Mr. Potter was a man of unusual character and ability.

The son of a prominent Methodist minister in Michigan, Mr. Potter received a splendid education and was graduated from Cornell University. With a remarkable memory, he acquired an extensive knowledge of the best in literature. He made a hobby of books and book collecting, and knew the values of books as well as their contents. He was also familiar with the best in music, and his wife holding the same seats for many years at the Chicago Orchestra concerts.

Most of Mr. Potter's business life was spent in Chicago, where he was engaged in the fire insurance business and handled large accounts. Retiring from active business about twenty-two years ago, he came to Sierra Madre. Mrs. Potter and her sister, Mrs. Caroline Collins, operated the old Sierra Madre Hotel in Lima Street for a time, and Mr. Potter assisted in the business. The sudden death of Mrs. Potter in 1908 was a terrific blow to him. He continued living alone and after a few years withdrew almost entirely from contact with others than a very small circle of friends.

For several years Mr. Potter served as a trustee of the city library. Funds were meagre and his unusual judgment of book values served to stretch the buying power of the book fund to the utmost. He added largely to the collection of standard works which are the foundation of any well chosen library.

So far as known, Mrs. Collins, now a resident of Torrance, is the only relative left by Mr. Potter. She came to Sierra Madre upon being notified of his death. The body is held at the Grant funeral parlors awaiting final arrangements for the funeral.

Community Dinner to Be Fine Affair

Program in Charge of R. S. Corlett and Members of C. of C. Committee

Maps and Charts Showing Highway News Will Be Shown

Arrangements for the community dinner to be held at the Woman's club next Thursday night, under auspices of the Planning Committee of the Chamber of Commerce, are practically complete. The program, prepared by R. S. Corlett, chairman of the committee, promises to be unusually fine, while the dinner will be equally as good as the last one, which excited such favorable comment.

W. J. Fox, engineer of the Regional Planning Commission, will be the speaker, and he will use many unique maps and charts of traffic and population studies, showing how future highway needs are forecast.

Miss Josephine Nelson will present some of her dancing pupils, and other enjoyable entertainment features will be provided.

Tickets have been in the hands of the fifteen directors of the chamber of commerce for the past week, and are moving slowly. However, due to the importance of the meeting and the growing interest, it is believed the 125 tickets will be readily disposed of.

The general public will be welcome at the meeting immediately following the dinner. Make your reservation early; don't wait to be solicited by someone whose interest in the civic welfare is no greater than yours should be.

Certificates For Ability In First Aid

Red Cross Recognizes Result of Recent Course of Instruction

Certificates of proficiency in first aid work have been received this week by several persons who completed the course conducted recently by Mr. L. E. Palmer. Out of the large number who started when the course was organized under auspices of the Red Cross Chapter, this group completed the course and were successful in passing the examination.

Those receiving the certificates were Mrs. Ellen Coll Barker, and Messrs. W. L. Hibbs, Robert Babbitt, Joseph T. Swanson and Vernon A. Udell.

Chairman W. R. Humphries also announces that the American Red Cross has sent a certificate to Dr. Gilbert S. Bovard, granting him authority to conduct first aid classes and to hold examinations for the certificates of proficiency for that organization.

Mr. and Mrs. John Peterson and John Jr., formerly of Hawaiian Gardens near Long Beach, are now occupying the living quarters in the C. F. Lamb Co. establishment at 304 West Central. They will receive calls in the absence of the manager, R. R. Reynolds.

Co-Operative Effort Is the Way To Community Betterment

THIS community represents much to all of us. It is home; it is where our families are reared; it is the center of our joys and sorrows; it is where our property interests lie. The better the community the better it is for each individual member of the community. A greater degree of prosperity for the community as a whole means a greater degree of prosperity for each individual.

Making a better community, a more prosperous community, is the work of individuals, but of individuals working together along comprehensive and progressive lines. As a community we get nowhere going backward. We must, and will, keep in the forefront of those that are going forward. We can do this by working together for the interest of all.

This working together means that our merchants must do all that is possible to supply our needs for merchandise at equitable prices. It means that they must afford a market place for such products as are disposed of through local buyers and sellers. But for the merchants to do these things means that we must give our merchants the opportunity to supply our needs. They cannot carry adequate stocks of merchandise if we do not offer them patronage for such stocks. We must realize that the prosperity of our merchants but adds as a whole, an increased prosperity for each of us, as individuals.

Our bankers, our professional people, are here to render service to each and every one of us as individuals. Our interests are necessarily their interests, and their interests are our interests. We grow and prosper only as they grow and prosper. We are all a part of the community circle, each unit of which is dependent upon each other unit.

Let us make our community a better place in which to live by co-operative effort.

Friday Holiday To be Observed By Local Stores

Practically all local business houses have agreed to close for Washington's Birthday on Friday. The exceptions are the drug stores, service stations, etc., which have a hard time convincing the public they have a right to take time for sleeping or eating. The post office will be closed and there will be no mail delivery.

The Order of the Eastern Star is to hold a food sale at two stores next Saturday, February 23rd, at 10 a. m. Purchases may be made at Solary & Davies or 58 West Central. The ladies of the chapter are eager to make the sale a success and respectfully solicit your patronage.

Mr. and Mrs. F. L. C. Roess and family were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Victor Hill on Saturday evening.

Inhalator Is To be Earned By Firemen

Will Operate Parking Lot At Fete to Raise Funds

Automobile parking problems for the Wistaria Fete were solved for the Women's Club committee when arrangements were made whereby the volunteer firemen would undertake the job. The handling of the parking lot is important in many ways: prevention of congestion, the impression on visitors, and the revenue which may be derived without holdup.

Purchase of an inhalator is the goal the firemen have in mind in tackling the parking job. For a long time the enterprising firefighters have had an ambition to add an inhalator to their life-saving and emergency equipment. But funds were scarce and the city budget did not seem to warrant it. So the firemen decided to go out and earn the money, and the parking enterprise afforded the opportunity. The firemen will doubtless live up to their well earned reputation for doing things up right.

College to Send Choir For Vespers

Pomona Students to Sing in Westminster Church Sunday

The Pomona College Choir, an organization of 115 voices, chosen by examination from among the students of Pomona College, is to sing "Messe Solennelle," the great Mass dedicated to St. Cecilia by the French composer, Charles Gounod, at the Westminster Presbyterian Church of Pasadena, next Sunday afternoon, February 24, at 4:30 p. m., at a special Vesper Choral service.

This choral organization is known as one of the great college choirs of the Southwest, but it is seldom heard except at Pomona College campus owing to the great difficulty of finding a time when all the members can participate. However, in furtherance of the plan to make music an outstanding feature of public worship at Westminster Church, transportation and other problems have been solved and the church-going and music-loving public of Pasadena and vicinity are most cordially invited to join in this great service of song.

The Westminster Presbyterian Church has often been designated as one of the most beautiful churches in America, and its doors are always open to those who come to worship. Dr. Josiah Sibley is the pastor, and the chorus choir is under the direction of William Conrad Mills, formerly of Washington, D. C.

Edgar H. McAlister will bring a band of student volunteers from the University of California at Los Angeles to conduct the Christian Endeavor meeting at Bethany Church Sunday evening. Special features and music will mark the program, to which all young people are invited. The local society will entertain the visitors with a five-o'clock supper in Bethany Hall.

Mrs. A. J. Bradshaw is again occupying her home at 171 East Montecito after an absence of several months.

Metropolitan Sewer Area to Be Revamped

Dissolution of District No. 7 Slated for Monday Night Meeting

All Communities Now in District May Retain Their Membership

A large delegation of local business men and city officials attended the meeting of the directors of Metropolitan Sewer district No. 7, held at Marigold Gardens Tuesday evening, the meeting having been called to determine whether or not the district as it now stands should be continued or dissolved and reorganized. Other cities in the district have recently had the matter under advisement and straw votes have been taken, in most cases showing a favorable leaning to the installation of the outfall sewer as proposed in 1926, when a bond election to pay for same was defeated. Sierra Madre was somehow overlooked in the matter and the first intimation that the bonds would be submitted at another election to be held soon, was received here late last week.

The chamber of commerce immediately began an investigation, but decided that the time between now and the proposed date of the election was so short that it would be impossible to make a survey of local conditions, and the chamber of commerce committee, composed of Joe R. Eastwood, W. S. Hull and M. D. Welscher, asked for time to place the matter before the people of Sierra Madre.

Following a lengthy discussion, led by A. K. Warren, chief engineer of the metropolitan sanitation district, it was decided to recommend that the directors, consisting of the mayors of the incorporated towns in the district, vote to dissolve the present district, and reorganize, including in to join.

At the Monday night meeting of the chamber of commerce it was suggested that information as to the cost of the trunk line sewer to the Sierra Madre city limits be ascertained, and also to ascertain if possible whether it would be possible to join the Pasadena sewer district, together with the approximate cost.

It is asserted that the city's share in the metropolitan district would be approximately $120,000, this expenditure bringing the trunk line up to the city limits. As another bond issue would be necessary to install the trunk line and laterals in the city proper, and as the total cost would require a bond issue in excess of the city's bonding capacity, it was thought that the matter will have to be given considerable intensive study before Sierra Madre can intelligently act.

With the cost of the trunk line sewer to the city limits exhausting the city's bonding capacity, or nearly so, it would leave the city with a fine outlet and no way of utilizing it, as compared with the condition in Covina, which has a fine system of sewer pipes, and no outlet—all dressed up and no place to go, so to speak.

The chamber of commerce committee has already asked Mr. Warren for all the data his office can supply as affecting this city, and will also endeavor to learn whether or not it will be possible to hook up with Pasadena, and how much such a hook-up, together with a complete local system, will cost.

After a hot exchange between the mayor of Arcadia and representatives from Monrovia, at the meeting Tuesday night, it is not believed that local business men would favor engaging in a sort of three-ring circus with these two communities in a tri-city district. The school situation in the neighboring communities has done little to promote a brotherly feeling, and from present indications Sierra Madre could better line up either with Pasadena or the Metropolitan district.

Attending the meeting Tuesday night were Mayor Lawless, Trustees Belohlavek, Blakeslee and Isaacs, Messrs. R. S. Corlett, W. S. Hull, M. D. Welscher, E. D. Burbank, H. H. Steinberger, H. Arden, George Norris and Joe R. Eastwood.

Mrs. Brice has secured the services of a native French teacher for Brice Academy, who will give private or class lessons to adults, also, on Tuesday and Friday of each week. This is an opportunity for Sierra Madre people wishing to study French.

Cooper Says Budget Law Is Needed

School Authority Agrees the Public Should Know School Costs

William John Cooper, state school superintendent, has come out in favor of the proposed school budget publication act which in effect requires school districts to make annual publication of their finances.

This measure was introduced at the last session of the legislature by a Southern California legislator, and at once found the support of the newspapers of the state. And just as quickly it was attacked by the school lobby, then headed by Supt. Will C. Wood, and defeated. The basis of the fight, was that it was backed by the newspapers of the state for their financial benefit, and although many of the publishers agreed to print the statement without cost the bill failed of passage.

If there is one class in the country which does not deserve such an attack as was made upon it, it is the newspapers. They give more of their space and their money than any other class of business in the world. Every public enterprise finds the newspapers cheerfully giving of their stock in trade to make it succeed. For all they have to sell is white space, and when they give it away, their revenue is not only reduced but their expense is greatly increased.

As to the necessity for a public knowledge of school finances, there has never been any doubt. And we say this without the slightest intention of reflecting either upon the administration of the schools—of school directors—or school teachers.

The schools spend something like two-thirds of the money raised by public taxation, and they are the one governmental branch, which under the present law, is not required to make a public accounting. The county, the municipality, the irrigation district, the state, is required by law to publicly report its receipts and expenditures.

For its own good the school district should do the same. Wherever there is secrecy there is suspicion. With the huge sums spent yearly on education, it is but natural for the taxpayer to wonder at the cause of the continued increase.

The expenditures, we have no doubt, are as a usual thing, necessary and legitimate. There may be times when a question may be raised as to the expediency of certain outlays, but as a rule the people are willing to trust the men and women who represent them in the administration of school affairs.

We never have been able to discover any valid reason for objection to publication of school financial report, and we want to extend our congratulations to Supt. Cooper for his statement that the proposed measure is based upon "principles that seem sound."—The Newport News.

Hitch Hikers Are Under Regulation In New Hampshire

"Hitch hikers" have become so numerous on the highways that some states are planning to place them under special legal restrictions. Under a bill introduced in the New Hampshire legislature, hitch hikers will be compelled to pay $3.20 annually for a hitch hiking license. If traveling by night they would be obliged to carry head lights and a tail light. The bill is specific in banning all manner of soliciting without a proper license. Hitch hikers would be required to wear a paste-board sign advertising the destination they hope to reach. Violation of any provision in the act would cost the hiker $13.10.

Many Causes of Automobile Fires Mostly Needless

What causes automobile fires? While everyone knows that every so often automobiles are burned, causes of these fires usually are veiled in mystery. Some light has been thrown on the situation, however, by Deputy Fire Marshall E. R. Newton of San Diego, who made a detailed report to the Automobile Club of Southern California on the list of automobile fires in his city during 1928.

Seventeen causes for the fires are given and out of 117 auto fires, to which the fire department responded, only four are listed as from causes undetermined.

Faulty electric wiring, which covers the entire ignition system, is charged with the largest number of blazes. There were 41 originating in the ignition.

Back firing in the carburetor started 21 fires, and third in the list of causes is gasoline leaking, which resulted in 10 blazes. Lighted cigarettes and cigars being left on cushions or sparks from smokers started seven fires. Lighting matches to look into gas tanks resulted in six fires.

Fair Share Of Highways Now Sought

Southern California Seeking New Apportionment Under Law

A united effort will be presented by Southern California for the proposed addition of 615 miles to the secondary state road system in this section, it is indicated by the conference recently held in the headquarters of the Automobile Club of Southern California. This was attended by legislators, county supervisors, editors and others interested in highway development.

To incorporate this additional mileage, the Edwards-Kline Highway bill has been introduced in the legislature as Senate Bill No. 717 by Nelson T. Edwards of Orange county, and Assembly Bill No. 845 by Chester Kline of Riverside county.

The Edwards-Kline Bill in no manner conflicts with or changes the provisions or principles of the Breed Bill, which became a law in 1927, nor does it in any manner interfere with the designation of improvement of the primary roads, according to highway authorities. The measure is proposed as an aid to the development of Southern California's road system, and it is declared to be fair to north and south alike, and entitled to the fullest support of every section of the state.

Purchasers of automobiles are fortified with more cash than in former years, according to a research report by the professor of economics at Columbia University reaching the Automobile Club of Southern California. This report shows that only 55 to 60 percent of the cars purchased at present are bought on the installment plan, whereas previous estimates had been from 75 percent up.

Interesting News Notes from Sierra Madre Canyon

J. P. Nash, A. M. Croxson, E. A. Anderson, J. R. Thompson and Laura E. Cadmus attended the meeting of the board of trustees on Monday, representing the Canyon Improvement Association, at which time the resolution was adopted declaring the result of the vote of Feb. 13 in the pool election, thus carrying out the first step of the legal program. The attorney was instructed to prepare, for the next meeting, the ordinance for issuing the bond. A letter from the association, read by City Clerk Dietz in which a number of important matters were presented to the trustees for consideration, was fully explained by J. P. Nash, spokesman for the committee. The city engineer received instructions to meet a committee from the association in the canyon on Thursday morning at 9 o'clock for a pool conference.

Mayor W. J. Lawless, Trustee Henry Isaacs and City Engineer O. A. Gierlich were canyon visitors Saturday morning for the purpose of looking over the swimming pool and site for the bath house. They assured canyon folk of their willingness to use every effort to speed the legal program of the pool in order that it might be ready for use for the summer season.

The Canyon Improvement Association plans to hold its regular Easter sunrise service on Inspiration Point above the canyon this year. It will be remembered that this service was abandoned last year on account of channel work and unfinished bridges.

Gordon Wolfe and a party of men had planned a trip to Death Valley last week with the hope of traveling straight from one end of the valley to the other. At the last moment they were informed by the Automobile Club of Southern California that a certain portion of the road was impassable due to the rains and that the cold was intense. As a result the trip has been postponed until some time in March.

Mrs. Gordon Wolfe is spending a few days in Los Angeles assisting Mrs. Louella O. Parsons, editor of the Examiner and Universal Service, with her work. Mrs. Wolfe was formerly a regular member of Mrs. Parsons' staff, but resigned a year ago.

Mrs. Lulu Straw, Long Beach policewoman, spent Sunday and Monday at the Canyon Store with her husband, W. F. Straw. Mrs. Straw states that plans for the meeting at Oakland in November of the recently organized California Women's Peace Officers Association were outlined at a business meeting of the organization held at the Rosslyn Hotel in Los Angeles the evening of Feb. 12. Mrs. Straw is treasurer of the association. The purpose of the association is the advancement and recognition of women engaged in police work. Membership already numbers 42. In addition to her duties as treasurer of the state organization, Mrs. Straw has been made chairman of the committee which will prepare a year book, to be ready for the state convention. The organization meets monthly, a dinner preceding the business session. Alice Stebbins Wells, of Los Angeles, is president. Policewoman Straw is the oldest in point of service of

Pasadena in Win Over Merchants

In spite of the rather discouraging score of 14 to 8 which sent the local baseball warriors down to defeat in the benefit game played for the relief of C. Bronson, Pasadena player, at the local ball park last Sunday, the fracas was not without its modicum of thrills.

Young Ted Scott, Sierra Madre twirler, held the Crown City boys to a bald scoreboard for three and one-half innings, and meanwhile the Wistaria Warriors managed to pile up a lead of five points. It looked for a while as though West, the invincible Nemesis of the Merchants' aggregation, had lost his ability to guide the pill.

In the fourth, however, Pasadena rallied, and the score was tied. In spite of brilliant plays, fine morale, and some very excellent fielding, the score continued to pile up in the red, and the issue ended 8 to 14 in the visitor's favor.

It must be remembered, however, that the Merchants were playing a team that stands very close to the top in the association, and local fans should be generous in praise of the willingness and spirit with which the Sierra Madre boys tackled their somewhat superior adversaries.

Among the highlights of the game was Bill Lama's initiative two-sacker, wherein he was assisted to third and thence home by hits from Marsh and Emil Smith, Marsh scoring also; and Leo Smith's two superlative catches at left field in the fifth and sixth stanzas. Speaking of highlights it might not be amiss to mention Tub Coleman's announcement which was productive of a generous and commendable response by the assembled fanatics to the tune of more than $60. Roy Dugan, manager of the Greater S. C. Baseball Assn., was in conference with Manager Scott and members of the team Sunday morning, and he was lavish in his praise of the Sierra Madre Club, the sportsmanship of its members, and the courtesy of its fans. Among other things he stated that Sierra Madre was fast becoming known to the rest of the association as a desirable place in which to play.

A noticeable improvement in the general morale, coordination, snap, and precision of the local players was observed. This was due no doubt to the fact that the merchants of the city have arranged for regular meetings to be held by the club every Tuesday evening. These will be attended by merchant members as well as by the players. The first of these meetings was held Thursday, Feb. 12, and the boys were given a fine talk by Walter Poehler. Present also were Henry Olsen and W. L. Gibbs.

Manager Scott extends his hearty thanks in behalf of the team for the generous way in which the public responded to the relief of C. Bronson, who was injured two weeks ago, and promises in return a team which will endeavor to put Sierra Madre on the Southern California Baseball map.

AUTHORITATIVE SPEAKERS

THIS week marks the beginning of a co-operative community campaign that deserves the attention of every citizen. It will be conducted in part through the columns of the News. Read the first-page editorial under the heading, "Cooperative Effort a Way to Community Betterment." And read the full page announcement to which the names of twenty-two local business houses are signed. It is their statement and deserves the same consideration as if anyone of the number were speaking to you personally.

From time to time through the coming year, additional statements will be made. They will not be lengthy, but they will contain food for thought, and inspiration for effective community effort. Read them, talk with your merchants about them, make your suggestions for the improvement of local business and the local community life.

Similar campaigns have been conducted in many communities with direct and beneficial effect. The merchants who have, with the News, underwritten the expense of this campaign, do not claim any monopoly on the progressive booster spirit. They do not claim to be the only ones deserving community support. They do have faith in their community and its people. They are proud of it, and they are so interested in its development that they are willing to invest in this effort to improve it, without cluttering up the discussion with offerings of merchandise. Again, read their statement, and read the names of the men who are making it through the News columns.

MAKING THE CIRCLE EFFECTIVE?

"WHAT'S the matter with our town?" The very question indicates skepticism and doubt in the mind of the speaker. Why not cultivate the habit of seeing and talking about the good features? Why not center effort on constructive effort instead of blocking people who are trying to accomplish worth-while things? Of course, a really constructive worker will be ready to counsel with his fellow citizens in the development of a program or a project. In other words, we must adopt the attitude of a friendly family circle instead of standing aloof and suspicious.

SPEED

ON the long stretches of the state highways one gets a good slant on the great variety of automobile drivers. The coast highway, the desert or the inland valleys are a severe temptation to anyone with the speed mania. Drive along in a large, well-built car at fifty miles, which is for it a very conservative speed. And almost every make of car on the highway will pass you up. Light cars that rattle all over the road, old cars that look as if they were ready to fall to pieces—they all tear loose and put the speed strain away beyond the safety limit. There is no lesson for the drivers in the number of wrecks on either side of the road. The real wonder is, that the wrecks are not more numerous.

HENRY J. POTTER

COMMUNITY service of an unusual order was rendered by Henry J. Potter who passed away this week. He lived so quietly that few saw him in recent years and the number who really knew him were even less. But his work was of definite and lasting benefit.

Books and life were inseparable to Mr. Potter. Bereft by the sudden passing of his wife twenty years ago, he fell back largely on books to sustain a spirit nearly crushed. With a mind of rare cultural training, he had spent most of his life in large cities. Old book shops had been a hobby. He knew books, their contents, their values. That is, he knew the books worth knowing.

And so, as a member of the municipal library board during its first years, Mr. Potter did most of the book buying. His rare judgment of values, monetary and cultural, enabled him to save the library many dollars on its book purchases. He was largely responsible for the sound development of the library from the point where the old, voluntary association left off after years of highly creditable effort.

I pity no man because he has to work. If he is worth his salt he will work. I envy the man who has work worth doing and does it well.—Theodore Roosevelt.

Some people seem to be able to use their stumbling blocks as stepping stones. And other people still call them lucky.

A true friend stands by you when you are under a cloud. Swarms of insects surround you when the sun shines.—Exchange.

PLAY after play has failed in New York this season. People just can't get a thrill out of the same old cuss words. —Nelson News.

SCIENTISTS are wondering about the age of the earth, while an author wonders why it often is referred to as "she." One question should answer the other.—Council Bluffs Nonpareil.

Observations

(By G. B. M.)

The Old Desert is a Success—

Well, I've seen it, and I agree with Robert V. Carr—the artists who try to do justice to it with paint ought to be ashamed of their impertinence. I mean the desert and valley north of Palm Springs.

For a long time I've wanted to see the bit of paradise (some people would call it Hades) where Bob Carr and Cabot Yerxa pioneered more than fifteen years ago. The other day I had a chance. Al Myers' Cadillac was the chariot, the guides were Bob and his old neighbor, Billy Mann; and for scientific investigators we had Frank Emme and Joe Nimrow of Los Angeles. The latter gave Al a rest at the steering wheel. And if anyone wants a careful driver who can make time on a long trip I would suggest that they try to hire Joe away from his laboratory job as a steel expert.

On the way down we went by way of Riverside, Box Springs grade and the Jackrabbit Trail. Coming back we varied the route by way of Redlands and Colton. Highways are wonderful, the country is fresh and getting greener all the time, flowers are appearing, the cherry orchards at Beaumont and Banning are beginning to bloom, and in a little while the desert flowers will be staging their annual show. So for the next few months it will be a particularly worth while trip.

A Real Empire—

But it was the desert I started to talk about. Sliding down the long grade thru Cabazon and Whitewater, we begin to realize that the comparatively narrow valley is widening out. And at Garnet (formerly Palm Springs station) we realize that we are right out in the middle of a wide valley.

Three or four miles to the south is Palm Springs village and the famous new hotel. Behind it rises Mt. San Jacinto, more than 9000 feet higher than the floor of the valley, a rocky slope steeper and more inaccessible than the famous east wall of the High Sierras on the Owens Valley side. Deep snow mantles the heights and fills the crevices, the rocks and trees below the timber line standing out sharply against the white.

Away off to the north stretches the valley. The long slope rises to the rounded, barren mountains circling the bowl. Sparse greasewood dots the sandy waste, if you want to call it that.

A Discarded Beach—

Garnet was named for Garnet Hill which rises in the middle of the valley. Somebody found a garnet there, once, we were told. It would not be surprising. For the hill is strewn with the queerest mixture of rocks I ever saw in one place. Igneous formations, conglomerates indicating upheavals and the fusing of rocks from widely separated aeons call for the geologists' lore. Half way up the hill the sands of what was once a sea beach crop out. Here and there are fragments of big sea shells, left from a time when that was the bottom of the sea.

After while we are hungry from our rocky rambles and pull off a little way from the road to spread the noonday meal. There are no bugs or crawling things and the sand is clean—much more attractive than beach sand for seasoning the boiled eggs.

But we are too near the highway and the procession of speeding cars. So we follow a rambling track off thru the brush to the north. It is a surprisingly good road. There is more substance to the sandy soil than first appears.

The Water is There—

Here and there we can see distant bunches of native palms. The thick brush around them indicates water near the surface. Our pioneers tell the depth at various points, very surprising.

Tamarisk trees, apparently a recent importation, have proven a Godsend for a quick-growing wind-break. Only a few of the scattered settlers have started to use them.

As we approach the "bench" toward the north side of the valley, a steep declivity of 10 to 20 feet marks the old San Andreas earthquake fault. It runs along the mountains for some distance. I remember seeing it again along the west slope of the Owens Valley. It started near San Andreas in the San Francisco bay region, making a big readjustment in California landscape in the late seventies.

Two clumps of palm trees on the edge of the bench seem to be our goal. They give the neighborhood the name of "Two Bunch Palms." Just beyond we come to the edge of one piece of the Carr real estate. No, real estate is a misnomer. It smacks of promotion which seems out of place here. And just to the east is the Yerxa domain. Those boys certainly had the pick of the valley and chose well. Both of them have hot water within a few feet of the surface. A little way off, there is cold water.

What a Home-Site—

Strolling over to a rounded knoll we survey the empire from Bob's next cabin site, a few hundred yards from his present cabin. Nobody knows how long it has been used as a vantage point. The black flint-like chip we pick up was left by some Indian arrow-maker. Burnt clay artifacts testify that the squaws also labored there. The tower of the hotel seven miles away is just a white speck at the base of the mountain. Homesteaders' cabins blend into the landscape and we can almost forget the work of the white man.

The roaring procession of cars down there on the concrete ribbon has faded into a faint drone on the zephyr. But a new note intrudes and a big Fokker comes overhead, speeding to Phoenix, or back east. No use, we can't get completely away from civilization and we sympathize with the pioneers who feel the valley is getting crowded, with settlers encroaching within mile.

As the sun sinks down into the clouds above San Geronimo Pass, what a change in old San Jacinto! The east side of the peak becomes gloomy and forbidding, something new in the fast changing mountain moods we had been watching all day. But the western sky lights up with a brilliant cerise, shading into deepest red. And a huge cloud hanging above San Jacinto with its dark side toward us, reflects the light downward onto the mountain. The glow which floods the mountain side, dark but a little while before, is bewitching. There is a radiance as if the mountain were illumined from within, like a mountain of glass. Yessir—any artist who attempts to put it on canvas is attempting the impossible. Still, it is a place to dream, even to do some real thinking. Imagination is not to be blamed for anything under the circumstances. I don't wonder Bob found inspiration for some of his best stories right there. So why blame the artist for attempting something he himself knows he cannot equal?

The light fades and the landscape turns to lead. Time to think about home and the rest of the trip which was to roll up 300 miles before midnight. But that is too long a story for now.

Away back in 1900, when the Misses Hattie and Annie Wood of Baldwin Park were conducting a rooming house in New York City, a woman roomer left a dingy old portrait of a bearded man in one of the closets of the house. They have since moved several times, finally to their home in Baldwin Park, the picture accompanying them. It was cleaned recently and has made trips to New York and Europe, where it is declared by many art critics to be a genuine Rembrandt, worth at least $100,000.

Why should Chicagoans worry about local conditions? After a few months along the present line the survivor can easily be apprehended and incarcerated, so to speak.

"It was just at the stirring finale of the second act. Hardly had the deluge of applause reached its climax when the manager hurried to the wings. He sensed the danger—the priceless throat of the world-famous singer, already threatened with a cold, had given an unmistakable hint of trouble. Only a few moments in which to act—scarcely time to summon a physician—what was he to do? But effective aid was already at hand. . . .

"Reservations" does not fancy the duty of calling attention to a sad shortcoming in the work at Woodrow Wilson junior high. But a case came under our observation yesterday that indicates and instructor is lacking in the very fundamentals of his subject. A boy who has been studying printing for two years in the junior high was quizzing the News gang on various operations about the back shop and finally he confessed that he had never been shown type lice. Now a printer who has never seen type lice has missed one of the most curious sights in a print shop. And, moreover, he isn't a printer in the first place; he can't be until his education is completed—and type lice, while they do not come with the sheepskin, are nevertheless quite essential to a printer's education. The young chap saw the type lice, alright. And we hope he went to school next morning and showed 'em to his instructor.

"Reservations" has eight tickets to sell to the Chamber of Commerce dinner next Thursday night. We are hoping that eight good business men will call at the office and purchase at least one each, so we shall not be forced to sell 'em to folks upon whom we make personal solicitation. There is no particular reason why the directors of the chamber of commerce, and others, should have to peddle tickets to a chamber of commerce dinner, but it has been done, and probably will be done again. In the meantime, anyone interested is urged to reserve a ticket early.

When a speeding bullet crashes thru an electric light bulb it dents the glass before it plows its way thru the white fragments of glass floating in the air. Air moves into some airplane cylinders at the rate of 42 feet a second. These facts were shown by use of the camera invented by Baron Shiba, a Japanese engineer. The camera made 20,000 exposures a minute and the films were thrown on the screen as slow motion pictures. Every detail of the bullet's flight as the missile was traveling slowly, was shown.

A warning to merchants and citizens in Los Angeles and surrounding territory that the Shrine convention committee has authorized no solicitation of special funds or advertisements has been issued by LeRoy M. Edwards, director general of the 55th annual Shrine conclave. Funds for staging the convention and the spectacular events which will take place in the Coliseum in June will be raised entirely by tickets, which are now on sale.

Three days after marriage, Morris Fineberg, 30, took $600 his wife had given him to open a store in L. A., and disappeared. She had just got the money as damages for injuries in an automobile accident.

Great preparations are being made for the Shrine convention to be held in Los Angeles next June 4, 5 and 6. One of the features of entertainment will be a million-dollar motion picture electrical pageant to be staged at the Coliseum. This will include a gorgeous parade of illuminated floats. Each float will represent the ultimate skill in electrical decoration and ingenuity in illuminated decoration known to the motion picture industry. Every studio, star and producer in filmland will enter a float or make a personal appearance in the pageant. The artificial light used will have a combined intensity of more than 12,000,000 candle power.

MEASURING GROWTH

How much a child should weigh for his height and age is a question parents are interested in having solved.

The American Child Health Association has secured valuable information the past year on better methods of measuring growth and nutrition. After measuring 8000 children thruout the United States, definite conclusions are reached that height alone is not enough of a measure to determine the weight of a child at a given age. The breadth of his hips, the depth and the width of his chest have as much significance as his height in determining what he should weigh for his age.

According to these findings a child who may be classed as underweight or overweight for his height may not be when compared with children of the same kind of bone framework. Much of the variation from average weight is thought to be due to differences in skeletal width and depth.

From this study a new method has been worked out to determine more accurately weight, height, breadth of chest, width of chest and width of hips, all are to be considered in their relation to the weight of a child.

Advice is given for the present that we may well give more attention to individual gain in weight during the year and less attention to the classifying of children in terms of percent underweight and overweight.

State Picnics
Coming Soon

William B. Brown, president of the Iowa State association, is calling the Hawkeyes to the mammoth annual Southern California picnic rally. It will be held Feb. 23, at Lincoln Park, Los Angeles. Basket dinners at noon and program to follow.

All who ever lived in Pennsylvania are invited to a great picnic all day Saturday, March 2, 1929, in Sycamore Grove Park, Los Angeles. Go early and spend the day with friends. There will be county registers and headquarters so all can find the old neighbors even with thousands present. There will be a brief program, but the main purpose will be to have a good time and to meet friends from all over Southern California.

TIPS TO MOTORISTS

Hot water readily transfers its heat to the metal of the radiator core when the latter is clean. Flushing the cooling system with water or alkaline solution is conducive to the efficiency of any automobile.

A rear sight mirror is necessary on every car for driving safety, and the rear body glass should always be kept clean for effective use of the mirror. A rear sight mirror should be carefully selected for some of them on the market have a tendency to reduce or magnify the size of objects.

A slipping or grabbing clutch should be adjusted as soon as noticed, for the sooner the adjustment is made the longer the plates and facings will wear. A clutch that grabs hard causes undue strain on all working parts between the clutch and the wheels and in fact, a grabbing clutch has caused chipping or breaking off of pinion or master gear teeth and twisting off of rear axle shafts.

Having front wheels properly aligned does not always stop uneven wearing of front tires. Concave spots about the entire tire are often caused by worn king or steering and connecting rod bushing and pins. These worn parts result in front wheel "shimmy". This is often hardly noticed on heavier cars, but it nevertheless quickly wears tires.

Bank balances as well as clutch suffer from the pernicious habit of some motorists or "riding the clutch", or allowing the weight of the left foot to rest steadily upon the clutch pedal while driving. Some drivers emphatically hold that no pressure is applied when they rest their foot on the pedal, but if the force of the foot on the clutch could be measured they would be surprised. When the driver's mind is on other things, considerable weight can be applied to the clutch, with the result that the facings and plates soon wear out and bring on another repair bill.

Famous Pianist to Appear at
Next Pair of Symphony
Concerts

Rudolph Ganz, pianist, is to be the soloist with the Philharmonic Orchestra of Los Angeles, George Schuevoigt, conductor at the tenth symphony pair, Thursday evening, February 28, and Friday afternoon, March 1, at the Philharmonic Auditorium. This Swiss pianist-conductor appeared with the Philharmonic Orchestra in 1919, and again during the 1923-1924 season as guest conductor and soloist; he has also appeared at the Hollywood Bowl as guest conductor. Mr. Ganz had firmly established his prestige as a pianist with American audiences before he was invited to appear as guest conductor of the St. Louis Symphony Orchestra in 1921. The deep impression he made resulted in his being selected as permanent director. This artist remained in St. Louis as conductor of the orchestra through the 1926-1927 season when he resigned. Despite his interpretative activities this artist still finds time for composition, as his more than two-hundred songs and many piano works indicate. For his appearance with the Philharmonic Orchestra Mr. Ganz will play Schumann's Concerto for Piano in A minor, Op. 54. The Mahler Symphony No. 5 in C sharp minor will be given on this same program. This rarely heard symphony will be given first performance at these concerts.

Problem in Golf
When a golfer makes a hole in one less than par, it is called a birdie. When he does it in two less than par, it is called an eagle. But what term applies to the shot made by the Kansan whose ball hit and killed a cow in an adjoining pasture?—Wichita Beacon.

Current Events-Public Welfare—

The meeting will open at 11 o'clock, when Dr. Louisa M. Eddy presents Mrs. Gertrude Beebe, former state chairman of social and industrial conditions of the California Federation of Women's Clubs.

She is now placement worker for the Los Angeles Co. Farm Bureau. Her subject is, "Where Our Taxes Go in the Up Keep of County Charities." She is working now under W. H. Holland, county superintendent of charities.

Following this there will be short reviews on three subjects. "National Affairs," by Mrs. Dunning; "Prohibition," by Mrs. W. F. Thayer, and "Co-Operative Marketing," by Mrs. Halsey. At 12 o'clock there will be a picnic lunch at which coffee will be served.

At 12:45 Mr. Roscoe Goodcell of the Auto Club of Southern California will tell us of proposed legislation which would add 615 miles to the secondary state road system in Southern California.

The regular session of the club will open at 2:30 with a patriotic song by the Woman's Club Chorus. The first speaker of the afternoon will be Mrs. R. O. Simpson, principal of the John C. Fremont school in Pasadena, and her subject will be "The Work of the Public Schools Among the Mexicans in Our Neighborhood."

Following this address the Club Chorus will sing again. Mr. C. H. Peterson of Pasadena will then give his very interesting talk on "The Certificate Method of Naturalization." The meeting will close with another song by the Chorus.

A Rummage Sale to help finance the making of the Souvenir Cook Book will be held on Saturday, Feb. 23, in the old News building. Please telephone Mrs. Humphries if you have anything to donate for the sale and she will see that the articles are called for. Spring house-cleaning will be much easier if your white elephants are out of the way and the very thing that you do not have any use for may answer some one else's need.

The next Bridge Tournament will be held Monday, Feb. 25th. There will be no luncheon.

Special attention is called to the fact that the dance planned for Feb. 23 has been postponed. Because of conflict with other arrangements there will not be another dance until after Easter.

Exclamations of wonder and admiration were heard on every side on Reciprocity Day at the splendid exhibit of hand work done by the local school children. Weird animals in cloth and paper, relief maps and produce maps and many other examples of hand work were displayed. Mrs. Butts of the P. T. A. arranged this exhibit and plans to have a similar exhibit at each meeting of the club.

The music section will meet Friday night, March 1, at the home of Miss Edna Green for study of oriental influence on music. The meeting is postponed one day to avoid conflict with the chamber of commerce dinner. — Mrs. Elmer A. Green, press chm.

Friends of Dean William Carson Shaw who underwent a major operation at Glendale Sanitarium on Tuesday will be glad to learn that he came through in fine shape and has been making excellent progress since then.

FIRE FLAMES

Jim Heasley, who shares with the author of "Fire Flames" the distinction of being poet laureate for the local Volunteer Firemen, wrote the following for publication in the "California Firemen," a magazine devoted to the interests of the fire fighters of the state. Inasmuch as the author of Fire Flames failed to present his copy for this week's issue in time for publication, we asked Jim's permission to publish his "brain child" under "Fire Flames," which permission he readily granted. If the author of "Fire Flames" takes umbrage at the usurpation of his spot in the sun, they can fight it out between themselves. Anyway, here it is:

SIERRA MADRE SQUEALS

By J. C. Heasley

Down here in Sierra Madre, where we think we have some town; We think we have some Fire Department, too.

We have the great Wistaria Vine, and other things around, And the Firemen are among the "Who is Who."

There's Big Big Richards (who is chief), a great big boy at that. He makes us do our stuff, there is no doubt.

His shoulders are like Hercules', and still he is not fat— He's quiet, but we know he is about.

"Bill" presides at all our meetings, with a gavel in his hand, As he listens for a "cuss word" from the "clan."

If he hears a member whisper something he can't understand, Then he makes him put some money in the "can."

This can we call the "cuss can," you would think it would get full, But in one year it is not so heavy—yet.

The boys are very careful of what they say and "pull," They seem to realize just what they'll get.

We hope some day to have it full, and then to spread a feed, And we'd like to have some visitors from yon.

So if any fireman hears of this, he wants to show some speed, And get to Sierra Madre 'fore it's gone.

In fact, you're always welcome, but the proper time to come is the night we have the meeting at the hall.

We meet just 2 times in a month and no matter where you're from We've always got enough to feed you all.

This sounds a lot like boasting, but we are not that kind— We try to follow out the Golden Rule.

So just come out to see us, we are not so hard to find— The Chief will show you how we go to school.

There's Assistant Chief Geo. Norris; he sells groceries thru the day; But he forgets his business for awhile.

When he pulls out his "Camels" I don't know how he makes 'em pay For there's not a boy that will not walk a mile.

In fact George is a real good sport—and a salesman to a T— He's got a line that carries us across.

He acts as our attorney, when we do get up a tree, And he never yet has brought us to a loss.

We have Vern Udell and H. A. Thew (Thew's head is very bald) These two are never hungry at the lunch.

However, Thew is for adjournment, which means the feed is called, And they are the biggest eaters in the bunch.

Our treasurer is Heasley and he writes our "local news." He keeps our doings in the public's eyes.

He wears a big long trouser-leg and number eleven shoes, His hats—he's not particular 'bout the size.

Cap'n Petzel from the Canyon, has a truck that's most his own; A little truck that we all call the "Goat."

It's loaded with some chemicals and with this stuff alone He can choke a good sized fire's throat.

"Shorty" Steinberger, a garage man, and an agent for the Ford, Is a man that measures six foot nine.

He is always fined so frequently that he 'most pays his board; When he enters he expects to get a fine.

Then we have Hibbs, the champion at selling tickets for a ball, Or for anything that benefits our crew.

Give to him two hundred tickets and he will sell them all, That's more than any of the rest can do.

Oh! there's Brooks and Louie Karger who're bound to have their fun And each night they have their little scrap.

If you weigh the two together, they would weigh almost a ton, To keep these two boys quiet is no snap.

Then comes Babbit and Joe Swanson and Frank Lovell (who is short) And Jack Wilkerson, whose hair is very red.

We all like "Mac" McMillan, who is quite a nifty sport, And Tom Schwartz, who has a level head.

There's Peterson, our engineer, and Walsworth with his style, There's Hosford, he sells radios that live.

There are other things than "Camels" for which they'll walk a mile, In fact these boys will take just what you give.

And last upon our list is least, George Cox, our Policemen's Chief— He will not lock you up, if you should come.

Now that should give to all of you a feeling of relief, So come! no matter where you're coming from!
